

WINNIPEG REPORTS HEALTHY GROWTH IN FIRST QUARTER

Market for quality homes thrives in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, April 8, 2014 –The Royal LePage House Price Survey released today showed strong year-over-year growth for standard condominiums and standard two storey homes with a 5.3 per cent increase to $203,118 and 5.1 per cent increase to $325,072 respectively. Meanwhile detached bungalows increased a modest 1.2 per cent year-over-year to $306,507

“We have definitely seen a slow start to the year in Winnipeg,” said Rick Preston, broker/owner, Royal LePage Dynamic Real Estate. “Our inventory levels are up compared to last year, but buyers are being choosy. The good listings are moving quickly, but questionable listings are sitting on the market.”

According to Preston, the increase in average prices for condos and two-storey homes can be attributed to a lack of quality inventory available. “There are lots of new build units available in the market, but there is a shortage of first-rate units in the resale market, which is pushing prices upward,” added Preston.

Nationally, most regions showed healthy year-over-year price growth, with the average price of a home in Canada rising between 2.5 per cent and 5.4 per cent. In the first quarter, the average price of a two-storey home increased 5.4 per cent to $428,943, while detached bungalows rose 4.4 per cent year-over-year to $380,765. Standard condominiums posted slightly lower gains of 2.5 per cent to $252,174.

"With the slightest trace of a weather recovery in most parts of the country, we are now finally seeing the arrival of housing inventory. This, combined with pent-up demand following a particularly long and harsh winter is setting the stage for an exceptionally robust spring 2014 market," said Phil Soper, President, Royal LePage. "This is good news for buyers, as the price spikes we have seen in a number of cities will be alleviated by this additional supply."

"With a number of supportive economic factors in place, the country's healthy real estate market continues to display its strength," added Soper. "The federal government is heading towards a balanced budget for the first time in over six years, while all signs point to a continued low interest rate environment. Moreover, the strengthening global economy and a weaker Canadian dollar are fueling demand for Canadian exports and reducing dependence on the household sector to sustain our economic success."

About the Royal LePage House Price Survey

The Royal LePage House Price Survey is the largest, most comprehensive study of its kind in Canada, with information on seven types of housing in over 250 neighbourhoods from coast to coast. This release references an abbreviated version of the survey which highlights house price trends for the three most common types of housing in Canada in 90 communities across the country. A complete database of past and present surveys is available on the Royal LePage website at www.royallepage.ca. Current figures will be updated following the complete tabulation of the data for the first quarter of 2014. A printable version of the first quarter 2014 survey will be available online on May 8, 2014. Housing values in the Royal LePage House Price Survey are Royal LePage opinions of fair market value in each location, based on local data and market knowledge provided by Royal LePage residential real estate experts.
